McDonnell hits back over U-turn

JOHN McDonnell has defended his U-turn over Labour's economic policy, insisting he changed his mind about supporting George Osborne's plans after meeting families affected by the closure of Redcar steelworks.

The shadow chancellor originally said he would back Mr Osborne's plans for the Government to run a budget surplus.

Mr McDonnell (above) said he viewed the updated Charter of Budget Responsibility as "meaningless" and had intended to "ridicule" it in the debate on Wednesday – but still vote in favour of it.

His U-turn has exposed bitter divisions within the Parliamentary Labour Party about the approach taken by Mr McDonnell and Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn.

Labour will now vote against the measure, but Mr McDonnell insisted: "We are not deficit deniers".

£591m for final Royal Mail stake

THE Government has sold its final stake in the Royal Mail for just over £591million.

A total of 13 per cent was sold at a price of 455 pence per share, with the Government's final one per cent holding gifted to eligible UK employees, raising their stake in the company to 12%.

The price is notably lower than the 500p per share achieved in the most recent sale over the summer, when a 15% stake raised £750m for the Government.

In total, it has raised £3.3billion from the sale.

INSIDE THE BEDROOM 'WHERE BECKY DIED'

Jury's grisly tour

JURORS in the Becky Watts murder trial have been given a grisly tour of where the pretty teenager died.

They were also shown round the bathroom where her body was dismembered and the garden where her parts of the 16-year-old were found.

Becky was allegedly murdered in her bedroom in Bristol by her stepbrother Nathan Matthews, 28, and his girlfriend Shauna Hoare, 21.

It is claimed Matthews and Hoare targeted Becky in a sexually motivated kidnap plot on February 19, which culminated in her death. A post-mortem examination found that after her death Becky was stabbed 15 times in the abdomen and was dismembered across her neck and above her knees, elbows and wrists.

Clingfilm

As part of the murder trial, the jury in the case were taken to Becky's home and saw the bedroom where Matthews suffocated her before allegedly putting her body in his car.

They also visited Matthews's home, seeing the bath where her killer allegedly used a circular saw to cut up her body. They then saw the shed where her body parts, wrapped in clingfilm, were dumped.

For the visit the 12-strong jury, along with the judge and barristers, were driven by coach from Bristol Crown Court.

The jury of two men and 10 women were shown around Becky's home, Matthews and Hoare's house and the garden where her body was eventually stored. The trial judge, Mr Justice Dingemans, and barristers were shown around the properties first by a police officer ahead of the jurors in their small groups.

They were driven the four miles from the city centre court to the semi-detached home where Becky lived with her father Darren Galsworthy and his wife Anjie, who is Matthews' mother.

The jury has been told Matthews and Hoare killed Becky, then put her body in the boot of their car and stayed at the house, watching the kids television channel CBeebies and playing board game Simpsons Monopoly, in a bid to bolster their claim Becky had "gone out".

The jury were told the pair then took her body back to their house and cut her up into eight pieces, which were wrapped in clingfilm and stored in a friend's shed. Matthews has admitted killing Becky

KILLED: Becky

ACCUSED: Matthews and Hoare

but says that it was unintentional and so denies murder.

He says he wanted to scare her because of the way she treated his mother, who is married to Becky's father.

Hoare, who the jury saw giggling in a police video of an initial interview she gave, denies any knowledge of Becky's killing.

Matthews, of Warmley, South Glos, denies murder and conspiracy to kidnap.

He has pleaded guilty to perverting the course of justice, preventing burial of a corpse and possessing a prohibited weapon. Hoare, of Bristol, denies murder, conspiracy to kidnap, perverting the course of justice, preventing burial of a corpse and possessing a prohibited weapon.

Donovan Demetrius, 29, of Bristol, and James Ireland, 23, of Avonmouth, each deny a charge of assisting an offender.

Karl Demetrius, 29, and his partner Jaydene Parsons, 23, both of Bristol, have pleaded guilty to assisting an offender after the teenager's body was discovered in their shed.

Both maintain they were unaware of what the packages actually contained.

The trial continues.

Russian Buk missile did bring down Flight MH17

THE Dutch Safety Board has identified the area from which it claims the missile that downed Malaysia Airlines Flight MH17 was launched.

Though it declined to comment further on the exact launch site, all the territory within a 320km square area it identified was in rebel hands at the time of the July 2014 incident.

Russia has contended that if the plane was brought down by a missile, it must have been launched by Ukrainian forces.

The Dutch Safety

Board report said the Buk missile's impact was instantly fatal only to the three crew members in the cockpit of the plane.

The rest of the crew and passengers died due to decompression, reduced oxygen levels, extreme cold, powerful airflow and flying objects.

It added: "It cannot be ruled out that some occupants remained conscious during the 60 to 90 seconds before the plane crashed."

The board said it is likely that those who died "were barely able to comprehend the situation in which they found themselves."

One passenger was found wearing an oxygen mask, but it was "unclear how it got there", the board said.

Meanwhile, Dutch Prime Minister Mark Rutte (above) has called on Russia to fully cooperate with the criminal investigation.

Legal pot to boost tax by £500-800m

LEGALISING cannabis could generate hundreds of millions of pounds in tax, a government study suggests.

The move could also yield savings for public services, including police and criminal justice costs, according to an internal review carried out for the Treasury.

But the government said there are no plans to legalise or decriminalise cannabis.

The study was commissioned earlier this year by the Lib Dems when they were in coalition, but it was never published.

It found that legalising, regulating and taxing cannabis has the potential to "generate notable tax revenue".

But officials said it would bring in less than the estimated £500-800m.

X-Fac Caz in £1m cougar site offer

X FACTOR babe Caroline Flack has revealed she was offered £1MILLION to be the face of dating site cougarlife.com.

Caroline has a taste for younger men and caused a stir when she dated One Direction crooner Harry Styles in 2011 despite being 14 years older than the teen pop star.

The 35-year-old TV beauty (above) also dated music manager Jack Street, 27, for 18 months before he dumped her at the end of last year.

Confirming the website's approach, single Caroline said: "I wasn't even old enough to be on the site. You had to be 36 and I had just turned 32."

"Until that point I had been comfortable in my own skin. I was comfortable with my age, with my life, with the way I looked."

"I had never really had any insecurities about myself. Then I started questioning who I really was. Am I fat? Am I old?"

Cara poo-poops fan asking for toilet selfie!

SUPERMODEL Cara Delevingne caused a stink with a fan after refusing to pose for a toilet selfie – because she was wiping her BUM.

The 23-year-old beauty (above) said she's often approached by cheeky selfie hunters in diners and bars but says she refuses to pose while in private positions.

London-born Cara said: "It's annoying when you're eating or when you're in a bathroom."

"I've had it when I've been in a toilet cubicle and someone's gone 'Can I get a picture?' I'm wiping my bum!"

Cara has just finished filming new Marvel flick Suicide Squad in which she stars as a sorceress called Enchantress. The movie, due out next year, also stars Will Smith and Jared Leto.

She added: "You need privacy when you're eating and when you're sleeping – and when you're going to the bathroom!"

Kiwi Vince: Match fix skipper was my mate

AN ex-New Zealand cricketer claims he was never going to report his captain for fixing games because he was his "mentor" and "mate", a court heard.

Lou Vincent, 36, (above) said his "role model" Chris Cairns convinced him to take part in match-fixing while they were both playing for the Chandigarh Lions in India. And the retired batsman said he felt "empowered" that Cairns had placed trust in him.

Giving evidence at Southwark Crown Court, where Cairns is on trial for perjury, Mr Vincent said: "I wasn't going to report Chris Cairns because he was my captain, my coach, my mentor."

Mr Vincent, who said he personally had been "greedy", added later that he was "never" going to report Cairns.

He said: "He was a New Zealander. He was a mate. And he was going to look after me."

Cairns, 45, from Auckland, is charged with perjury and perverting the course of justice and denies the charges.

Rats infest rent homes

ONE in nine privately rented homes in England has had problems with vermin such as rats, mice or cockroaches in the past year, research from Shelter suggests.

A survey for the housing charity found that 11 per cent of such places have been affected - equating to almost half a million homes if the findings were projected across England.

Almost half (49 per cent) of tenants surveyed said they'd experienced poor conditions or disrepair in the past 12 months.

More than a third (34 per cent) of private renters said they'd lived in a property with damp or mould and 22 per cent said they had suffered due to poor insulation.

A further 11 per cent of renters also reported electrical hazards, the survey of 3,700 private renters in England found.

AS BOOZE BRIT FACES 350 LASHES, ONE MAN REVEALS WHAT A FLOGGING IS REALLY LIKE...

By SIMON DEAN

simon@sundayexpress.co.uk

DAVID Cameron will write to Saudi rulers in a bid to stop a British OAP being lashed 350 times after cops found booze in his car.

The Prime Minister's intervention was revealed yesterday after the family of Karl Andree, 74, made a desperate plea for him to be spared from a punishment that could KILL him.

In a growing diplomatic row, Mr Cameron is writing to the Saudis over the "extremely concerning case" of Mr Andree, who was arrested in August last year when police found bottles of wine in his vehicle.

Torture

He has already served 12 months in Jeddah's brutal Briman Prison - which has a reputation for torture and inhuman conditions.

Mr Andree, who worked as an oil executive in the country, faces a public flogging - a punishment his family fear could kill him as he is still weak from battles with cancer.

His three children, Hugh, 46, Kirsten, 45, and Simon, 33, urged Mr Cameron to intervene before authorities carry out the sentence.

A spokesperson for the PM said: "We have been providing consular assistance to Mr Andree and his family since he was first arrested and we have raised the case repeatedly in recent weeks."

"Given the ongoing concerns and the fact we would like to see more progress, the PM is writing to the Saudis to further raise the case."

The PM's sudden intervention comes after Mr Andree's family raised his plight in the media.

In 1993, Gavin Sherrard-Smith, a computer expert from Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, received 50 lashes with a bamboo cane in a prison in Qatar.

Like in Saudi Arabia, Qatar bans alcohol and has strict punishments in place for those caught breaking the rules.

He was accused of breaking an alcohol ban while living in the capital Doha - something Mr Sherrard-Smith, now 47, has always denied.

Describing his astonishing account of how the brutal punishment was carried out, he said: "Tuesday was punishment day. There were 22 of us on the list and one by one we were led into the doctors' clinic to be examined."

"Finally, it was my turn and they laid me on a couch, spent several minutes discussing me and, after listening to my heart, judged me fit.

'My whole back felt like it was on fire'

PUNISHMENT: OAP Karl Andree

"Having been searched to make sure we had no padding under our clothes, another man and I were ushered into the waiting room."

"His name was called out first so I remained in the waiting room while he received his punishment next door."

"I could hear the cane whooshing through the air and landing with a thud...50 times."

"And then it was me. The room where we were beaten was lit by four strip lights in the ceiling. It was about 12ft by 14ft of whitewashed breezeblocks, with windows on one side and dirty cream curtains hiding the iron security grilles. There was a stained carpet covered with cigarette burns."

"Three policemen, three doctors, a senior police officer and a religious judge were sitting on benches and behind a wooden desk as I was marched in."

"They were ALL holding canes - each more than a yard long and about half an inch thick."

"One fellow prisoner had told me he'd been hit so hard that the bamboo cane had broken - which wouldn't be a problem here as there were another EIGHT propped against the wall."

"The sentence of the Islamic court was read out and translated by one of the doctors."

"The judge asked if I had anything to say and I replied only that I was innocent, although I'm not sure that was translated."

Unbearable

"Then I was told to lie face down on a rug on the floor, still wearing my prison uniform."

"The lashing started immediately. One, two, three - in quick succession. I buried my head into my forearms, gritted my teeth and concentrated on not breaking down."

"The man lashing me was the tallest and biggest of the three policemen. He was supposed to have a book - usually the Koran - under his arm to reduce the swing and stop him from lifting the cane above his head, but there was no sign of it.

"Four, five, six, seven - they kept coming, thick and fast. At first the pain wasn't too much and I could feel where he was hitting me."

"The blows were raining down on my body, from the shoulder blades to the calves, then back up again."

"But with each blow, the skin softened and the pain grew and grew to the point that my whole back felt like it was on fire."

"Soon it was unbearable, but they kept coming - mostly on my left shoulder and calf. I had to summon up all my control not to move."

"I didn't realise the human body could generate and tolerate such pain. I had never felt anything like it before, and I hope I will never feel anything like it again."

"At about 20 I lost count because I was in too much pain, but someone else was counting each stroke out loud in Arabic."

"I had to grit my teeth even more and screwed up my eyes. I was determined not to make a sound and to lie perfectly still."

"After a while I had no idea where he was hitting, even though my clothes were getting torn. The last 10 strokes were bloody agony. I thought I was going to pass out."

"Then just as quickly as it started, it was over - 30 to 40 seconds was all it had lasted. I was left to stagger to my feet and walk out."

"The first person I saw was the prison governor, who said, 'You are still alive then?'"

A fellow inmate counted the marks on my back and there were scores of welts - blue and black, surrounded by yellow swellings."

Marmalade plan gets Rita into a jam!

THE music world has united to slam Rita Ora's idea to remake the classic hit Lady Marmalade.

In a recent interview the sexy songstress, 24, admitted that she was keen to gather her pop pals for a new version of Labelle's 1975 soul classic.

The hit was first remade when Christina Aguilera, Pink, Lil' Kim, Mya, and Missy Elliot teamed up to record it in 2001 for the flick Moulin Rouge!

Rita said: "I'm trying to round up the troops. I think it would be me, Miley Cyrus, Charlie XCX - she'd be fun - and Iggy Azalea."

But news of her plans had Twitter users declaring that perfection had already been achieved.

The hate got so extreme Iggy Azalea, 25, took to social media to blast the X Factor judge (above), saying she had nothing to do with the idea.

She Tweeted: "Please leave me out of the whole Lady Marmalade conversation. I have nothing to do with Rita's ideas & agree it should be left alone."

Racist attacks at 5-year high

THE number of racist incidents recorded by police forces in England and Wales has hit a five-year high.

A total of 53,902 incidents were recorded in 2014/15 - a 10% increase on the previous year and the highest since 2009/10.

Greater London saw the biggest year-on-year increase for any region, with incidents up by almost a quarter (24%).

This is the highest number since available records began in 2009/10, and is the equivalent of around 14 incidents per 10,000 people - or one for every 740 residents.

The figures were released by the Home Office as part of the latest statistics on hate crimes, and cover every force in England and Wales, excluding the British Transport Police.

JAILED: David Thomas (left) had protected sex with teen while his marriage broke up

A SCHOOL governor has been jailed after admitting having sex with a pupil who had a crush on him.

David Thomas Scott, who was also a student support worker at the York secondary school where he worked, started seeing the girl when she was 15 and had sex with her when she turned 16.

Sentencing Scott to 12 months in prison, Judge Rodney Jameson QC said: "I am jailing you to indicate the crucial importance for those in roles of responsibility in relation to young people to withstand temptation and not to offend in this way."

"The degree of trust reposed in you was of a very high order."

"Pupils of any school require protection from the crushes they may develop towards teachers at their school."

Scott was 33 when he kissed and cuddled the 15-year-old girl in his car and, immediately after she turned 16, had protected sex with her at his home and at a Manchester hotel, said Abigail Langford, prosecuting at York Crown Court.

She had developed a "crush" on him and for months he had ignored her attempts to engage in conversation via social media.

But eventually he met her away from the school and they started their sexual relationship. Neither the girl, nor her mother, wanted him to be jailed, said Ms Langford.

Defence solicitor advocate Lee-Anne Robins-Hicks handed in dozens of testimonials from former pupils, their parents and other members of staff, in his support.

Scott, from York, pleaded guilty to three charges of sexual activity with a girl while in a position of trust.

Vulnerable

Mrs Robins-Hicks said he had resigned from the school where he had worked for eight years and now worked in a completely different field.

In addition to the jail sentence, Scott was forbidden to have any contact with the girl indefinitely under a sexual harm prevention order and put on the Sex Offenders' Register for 10 years.

Ms Langford said Scott started work at the school as a teaching assistant in 2006 and by 2012 had risen to the role of leading student support worker.

He had also been elected by fellow staff members as a staff governor and sat on a school development committee.

Mrs Robins-Hicks said Scott was remorseful and regretted his actions. He had been emotionally vulnerable when he agreed to meet the girl because his marriage was breaking up at the time.

Big Issue boss joins the Lords

BIG Issue founder John Bird is to join the House of Lords as one of four new non-party political peers.

The homelessness campaigner was among those selected by the House of Lords Appointments Commission to sit on the crossbenches.

Joining him in the upper chamber are engineer and academic Julia King, the vice chancellor of Aston University, civil engineer Robert Mair and Mary Watkins, professor of nursing and currently Emeritus Professor of Healthcare Leadership at Plymouth University.

Mr Bird, who set up the magazine in 1991 as a way for the homeless to earn their own money, said he hoped to inject some new ideas into policy making.

He said: "Mine will be a voice in the legislative process for the thousands of people The Big Issue has helped over the past 24 years and continues to help today through our philosophy of social entrepreneurship based on self-help."

Texas Governor Greg Abbott signed a bill into law that allows people with concealed-carry permits to bring their guns into most places on university campuses starting August 1, 2016.

Now thousands of students have signed up to "strap gigantic swinging dildos to our backpacks" in protest.

The "Open (DILDO) Carry" protest is the brainchild of 24-year-old University of Texas graduate Jessica Jin.

She said: "I felt a lot of frustration at those who were still trying to explain away or make excuses for this repeated pattern of violence and said to myself, 'Man, these people are such dildos.'"

Bosses pull 'too raunchy' scenes

By JACK MOTTERSHEAD

jack@sundaysport.co.uk

SEXY Casey Batchelor revealed the BREAST bits from her new movie didn't make the final cut.

The news comes as even more disappointment to the Celebrity Big Brother babe who recently spilled the beans on her steamy affair with England rugby ace Jonathan Joseph.

The busty brunette is set to make her acting debut in gangster flick Bonded by Blood 2, which is set for release in January next year.

But the 31-year-old stunna was sorry to find out that film bosses had cut out all of the saucy sex scenes she filmed.

Casey said: "I've got a main part in it and I was given loads of sex scenes but they've unfortunately cut them all out for some reason."

Gutted

"Still though, there's a lot of sex and violence in the film."

Casey claimed to have been left feeling "gutted and used" by 24-year-old rugby star Joseph after he kept his long-term girlfriend a secret from her.

But despite her recent heartbreak, Casey will have plenty of ways to take her mind off the drama as she gets ready to promote her upcoming flick.

Bonded By Blood 2 is based on Bernard O'Mahoney's book titled Essex Boys: The New Generation.

After three top members of the Essex Boys firm are murdered, there is a void left behind with multiple competitors clashing in a bid to take advantage of it.

The sequel to the 2010 release Bonded By Blood also stars EastEnders actor Sam Strike and blonde beauty Dani Dyer - the daughter of Danny Dyer.

Peter 'pure filth in the bedroom!'

SINGER Peter Andre has confessed he is PURE FILTH in the bedroom.

The 42-year-old Brit-born Aussie, who's currently battling for top spot on BBC1's Strictly Come Dancing, has caused a stir by bragging about his bedroom antics.

Dad-of-three Peter (above) described himself as a "dirty rotter" between the sheets, encouraging TV bosses who warned him he risked damaging his family-man image by boasting about his animalistic sexual exploits.

Peter said: "I'm pure filth. But I'm not a sleaze. I'm a massively passionate person. A dirty little rotter in the bedroom, and a gentleman too."

The claims emerged as part of a court battle between Andre's TV producer and ITV, in which the producer was awarded "substantial" damages on Friday for breach of contract.

The brags had come two years after Andre's split from Katie Price and before he tied the knot with new wife Emily MacDonagh in July.

EX-LIVERPOOL ACE CISSE 'IN PLOT TO BLACKMAIL PLAYER OVER SEX TAPE'

Cops quiz French star over bid to take cash from ex-teammate

By WENDY THOMAS news@sundaysport.co.uk

FORMER Liverpool striker Djibril Cisse has been arrested in connection with a plot to blackmail former team-mate and France international Mathieu Valbuena over a SEX TAPE.

Cisse, who also played for Sunderland and QPR in the Premier League during three spells in England, is one of four men being held by judicial police in France.

"We can confirm that he is being questioned over his role in this affair," said a source working for investigators in Versailles, west of Paris.

Cisse is suspected of conspiracy to blackmail – a charge which carries a maximum five-year prison sentence.

The striker, who cost Liverpool £14.5million in 2004, is said to have been part of a plot to extort money from Valbuena.

The arrests took place in the Bouches-du-Rhone and Oise departments.

Slammed

Valbuena, the diminutive 31-year-old Lyon midfielder who has been linked with a number of Premier League clubs, was asked for money in return for the tape not being published, it is alleged.

Cisse, 34, joined Saint-Pierroise in the Reunion Premier League, the top division in the French overseas territory Reunion located east of Madagascar, this summer.

He signed a month-long deal with the 850,000-population island-based club – but is now due to appear on the French version of Strictly Come Dancing, Danse Avec Les Stars, later this month.

Cisse and Valbuena were team-mates at Marseille between 2006 and 2009, as well as playing together with the French national team.

Last week, Cisse slammed his ex-wife for appearing on a Channel 5 reality TV show.

He branded Jude Cisse "a disgrace" for featuring in Britain's Flashiest Families.

The programme showed Ms Cisse, who celebrated her divorce with a party and three-tiered cake depicting a headless groom, shopping for a Porsche.

Cisse was particularly angry that she had allowed their three children to be filmed.

Cisse became the first non-English speaking player to hold Liverpool's transfer record.

His final spell in England ended just over two years ago when he left relegated QPR.

Cisse moved to the Russian Premier League for a short spell with Kuban Krasnodar before returning to France.

STRAIGHT TALKING

FROM UKIP'S DEPUTY LEADER

Don't be fooled by PM's EU 'renegotiation' bull

● WHEN Brendan Rodgers was sacked last week, I said to my mates that Jürgen Klopp (above) would be the Liverpool manager by the weekend, unless Chelsea ditched Jose Mourinho.

I reckon Liverpool's board panicked when they saw Chelsea's capitulation to Southampton and then Mourinho's bizarre seven-minute post-match interview, where he spoke openly about Chelsea sacking him.

This spooked Liverpool and I believe from that moment Rodgers was a dead man walking.

It wouldn't have mattered if Liverpool had beaten Everton 5-0, he was gone.

Liverpool then rushed for Klopp, because if Mourinho had been sacked then Chelsea would probably have tempted the former Borussia Dortmund boss to Stamford Bridge.

So, well done to the Anfield board for acting so decisively, even if I do feel sorry for Rodgers.

WE now know what David Cameron wants back from the European Union as part of his "renegotiation" before the referendum. And, to be honest, it amounts to sweet FA.

His first demand is that he wants an "explicit statement" from the EU that Britain will not become part of a European super state.

Big wow. They'd give him that today if it meant Britain would agree to stay in.

And who says it would be worth the paper it was written on when the President of the European Commission is on record saying "when it becomes serious, you have to lie".

The next red line Dave wants is another "explicit statement" that the euro is not the only currency in the EU. Again, that could be given today.

Indeed, a requirement to join the euro currency only applies to new member states joining the EU, so Cameron's red line is more of a red herring.

Next, he wants a red card system so national parliaments can veto Brussels legislation – but as EU regulations bypass national parliaments, I struggle to see how a national parliament can red card something it has nothing to do with.

Finally, he wants to ensure that the nine countries not in the euro are not bullied by the nineteen who are.

But in the future Serbia, Bosnia, Kosovo, the Ukraine and Turkey will join the EU and will have to join the euro as new member states, so the nine who aren't in the single currency will inevitably lose more influence.

Holes

The Prime Minister will then conclude his really meaningful "renegotiation" and claim he's secured a great victory for Britain when, in reality, it will mean absolutely nothing.

The big question then will be: Will the public be fooled?

I hope not, because there are more holes in these renegotiation red lines than a sieve.

There's no mention of renegotiating Common Fisheries

Policy, which has halved the size of the British fishing fleet since the 1970s and leads to nearly two million tonnes of fish being thrown back into the sea in order to meet EU quotas.

He doesn't talk about doing away with Common Agriculture Policy, only there to benefit French farmers while at the same time pushing up the price of food for families in Britain.

Unbelievably, there's no renegotiation whatsoever on our membership fee of £55million every day to this organisation that hasn't had its accounts signed off by the auditors for nearly twenty bloody years!

And he hasn't even mentioned controlling our own borders. Not one mention of the fact that the EU's Freedom of Movement rules has led to British working class people having their wages driven down and, in some cases, being put out of work altogether because of cheap foreign labour.

It is said that if you aim for the stars, you will reach the sky. David Cameron's red lines are so weak, they will not even get off the ground.

Justin Dunn's Room 101 WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

The phone call that drives us all insane

I MUST inform you that while reading this article you are being recorded for something I'll spuriously call "training purposes". Got that?

Back when I was starting out in the news trade – in what now feels like black and white telly days – things were a lot different.

If there was something mildly controversial coming up at the planning committee – a supermarket scheme that was upsetting the locals, for instance – I'd ring up the copy's head of planning to get a quote, and normally receive one straight from the horse's mouth.

Parents short-changed on their child benefit could find a number in the phone book, dial it, speak to a grown-up, and have the matter sorted out there and then.

And anyone with a genuine complaint or query to make about any aspect of public or private services would be immediately put through to the manager, as that was where the buck would stop.

Younger readers might read this and think that I once lived in some kind of nirvana – and in some ways it was.

A world where people took responsibility for their roles in life and stopped up to the plate when asked.

A world where phone numbers were identified by their area code and thus directed us to someone local, and not a generic 0845 prefix which takes us to a call centre

4,593 miles away in Mumbai (which is the actual distance from my home, fact fans).

A world where everything you said WASNT recorded for "training purposes".

A world where the customer was always right.

But this shiny new supposedly connected world doesn't believe the customer is right any more.

Angry

If anything, we're presumed automatically wrong or mistaken – and begrudgingly agreed to be correct only if we first adopt the tenacity of an angry October wasp.

Who hasn't spent hours waiting to get through to their bank – well, the banking group's call centre – listening to that dreadful music?

Who hasn't been told "I'm afraid I'll have to terminate this call if you continue to be angry?" after you were only enraged in the first place by their dumb inability to understand your complaint?

And who in life has ever had to listen to recorded customer phone complaints as part of their "training"?

Grown adults are now treated like children by kids in headphones who couldn't run a bath.

And their employers deliberately hide behind these call centres, as it means minimum wage frontline staff in shops and public services are excused from actually helping you out, meaning you're more likely to leave whatever it is alone just to avoid the mind-blowing hassle of the phone call.

Computer says no? Every bloody time.

Piers to join Susanna on ITV breakfast sofa

GOOD MORGAN BRITAIN!

By ANN COATES news@sundaysport.co.uk

PIERS Morgan is to join the Good Morning Britain team alongside host Susanna Reid.

The former tabloid editor and TV presenter will next month join sexy Susanna three days a week on the ITV breakfast show.

He said: "I am very excited at the prospect of waking up at 3am every morning, and even more excited by the thought of how annoying Susanna is going to find me after a few months."

"Good Morning Britain is a great show with a terrific team on and off screen. I'm looking forward to it enormously."

The 50-year-old currently presents Piers Morgan's Life Stories on ITV. Between 2011 and 2014 he hosted Piers Morgan Live on CNN in America.

Piers will step into the shoes of Ben Shephard, who has co-hosted the show on weekday mornings since April last year.

This will not be Piers' first time on Good Morning Britain - in April he filled in for a week as guest presenter when Ben was on holiday. He was criticised by Ofcom for laughing as an interviewee used the F-word live on air.

UP FOR IT: Piers (top) will rise early to join Susanna

Ofcom decided not to take action against the programme as Piers and Susanna and Reid had quickly apologised.

Piers was also due to appear in July, but was dropped from the show's schedule because he was in an advert for the National Lottery.

As Good Morning Britain is classified as a news and current affairs programme, presenters are prohibited from appearing in paid ad campaigns.

'Blender death' firm fined £200k

A FIRM has been fined £200,000 after a worker died when he was pulled into an industrial blender.

George Major, 51, was clearing material from the machine at pellet makers Rettenmaier UK in Mansfield, Notts, when it unexpectedly started up.

The incident, four years ago, was investigated by the Health and Safety Executive (HSE), which found that a guard had been removed from the machine, which had not been locked off from the electricity supply.

Investigators found Mr Major had been helping to clear a blockage when he was dragged into the blender and killed.

The company admitted breaching safety acts at Nottingham Crown Court.

The HSE's Samantha Farrar said: "This tragic incident could have so easily been avoided."

Adele TAYLOR

NAUGHTY Adele Taylor says she loves being naked all the time – which is handy since she loves shagging outside the bedroom.

The 27 year old brunette admitted having lots of sexy lingerie at her flat but claims it hardly ever gets used because she's always in the buff.

If she does find herself with a fella she revealed she gets a kick out of using her "secret" oral talents to get him in the mood.

Judging by these snaps the 32D babe should have no trouble getting her bloke into bed.

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Adele of Sunbury Middlesex said "If I had my way I'd be nude all the time."

"I like lingerie. I've a massive collection. There are three drawers full of stuff in my flat. But I just love being naked."

"Plus if you fancy a quickie you can just get to it without messing about taking your clothes off."

She added "I prefer to give oral than receive. I have big soft lips and a top secret technique that never fails to make a guy come."

Cops' appeal over murder of great-gran

COPS investigating the unsolved murder of a great grandmother have appealed for an anonymous caller to get in touch.

South Yorks Police said they believe the man may have info that could help solve the murder of Nora Tait (above), 69.

Det Ch Insp Craig Robinson also said he was still keen to trace a door-to-door food salesman known locally as "knock off pad" and appealed for the author of a cryptic Christmas card received by police in 2009 to come forward.

Mrs Tait was found dead with her skull bashed in at her home in Hexthorpe, Doncaster, on October 13, 2005.

It is believed she was killed the previous day after going to a nearby takeaway to buy fish and chips, which lay untouched in her home.

Mr Robinson said: "I hope this appeal will result in new information to solve this murder."

KATE: I LOVE LATEX SEX!

By SAM WALKER

sam@24hourstv3.co.uk

KINKY Kate Moss says she has a fetish for LATEX.

The supermodel, 41, revealed she loves dressing up other models in the tight wipeable gear then massaging them with LUBE.

Ex catwalk queen Kate now runs her own fashion collection.

And speaking ahead of the launch of the AW15 range at Mango, clothes store's flagship shop in Milan she said: "I love putting people in latex because they have such good bodies these girls they pour into it."

Croydon-born Kate, a mum of one, said she then lays the girls down and smothers them in silicone lube before they parade for fashion show guests.

She added: "It's a silicone spray that you shine the latex with."

Kate put her words into action last year when she attended her 40th birthday party in a tight latex dress at London's Dorchester Hotel.

And she wore another bondage style number in Paris when she attended an event with ex hubby Jamie Hince.

She is currently on a world tour to launch her fashion range with ex starmodel Cara Delevingne. 23.

IT'S five years since Gemma Collins, Mark Wright, Arg, Joey Essex, Sam Faiers, Amy Childs and Lauren Goodger first burst onto our screens in The Only Way is Essex.

The ITV reality show was quickly hailed "the most talked about British TV show" of 2011 and won its first Audience Award at the Baftas the same year. And the show has put the Essex town of Brentwood at the heart of British culture. But the most remarkable thing about TOWIE is the GORGEOUS female stars that appear every week.

Over the years there have been some cracks and here in the second part of our special tribute to the hit show, Midweek Sport brings you the BREAST hits of the show's hottest honeys.

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

● THIS week I joined Snapchat – and I am completely hooked. I think I like it even more than Twitter.

You can follow my feed at linseydawnmck.

I think it is just so amazing how all of these little social media apps are kind of taking over the age of personal websites and subscription services.

That's how I came up with my latest exciting project that I want to share with you all.

I am on the hunt for a really good IT firm who can help me build my very own Linsey Dawn McKenzie app.

I want it to link all of my profiles on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and Snapchat in one place – as well as my website – so that I can update you guys in different ways – and you'll never have to miss out on anything that I am getting up to, because it will all be in one place!

And if you subscribe to my website, you will get the app for free!

● I WAS so sad when I heard the news that two brave RAF servicemen died in a helicopter accident in Kabul, Afghanistan.

We owe so much to the brave men and women who are, or have been, out there serving their country.

At the end of the day, they are just normal people with regular families and normal lives back at home.

Our armed forces do an amazing job and we all need to show how proud we are of that. My heart goes out to the families of Alan Scott and Gerald Roberts.

● I AM getting ready to take part in a great show called Sexpo which takes place at the London Olympia next month.

And for anyone who remembers Erotica, this event will take you back to the good old days.

It is an incredible show that originated in Canada, and there will be all kinds of things going on.

I want to see it in Los Angeles so I can't wait to take part!

I am going to have a stall there where I will be selling my sexy new calendar as well as some naughty DVDs.

And a whole host of other girls like my friend Lucy Zara will be there selling toys, films, merchandise and performing on stage too.

And I have a treat for you guys – if you come along to the show I have a special discount code which will get you 20% off!

I'm not being funny, but these rumours flying around that Joey Essex has begged himself a string of dates with Pattie Edwards are just ridiculous! I can't see there's any way she would settle for the TOWIE diva after being with Zayn Malik. After Zayn dumped the Little Mix singer, who could have the pick of most men – she's in one of the biggest girl bands out there, so why on earth would she settle for a guy like Joey? Well, Zayn certainly isn't intelligent for him. Well, Zayn certainly isn't young at the end of the day so she should be going out there and enjoying herself. Well, Zayn certainly isn't!

LINKED? Little Mix star Pattie (above) and Joey

Thank Face they got rid of Mason!

AXED Mason Noise

OH my God, I am absolutely loving The X Factor this year.

I was so glad they booted off that Mason Noise though – I just wanted to punch him in the face!

I'm not being funny, but what was that all about when that other guy came out and did a dance routine?

It wasn't even like they were breakdancing or doing anything difficult – they were just hopping around on one foot.

He came across as a typical, big-headed and idiotic teenager.

Attitude

He had such a bad attitude and I found him so annoying to watch.

So I was so happy when Simon sent him packing!

Even if he had made it through he would have been booted off in the first week, the public wouldn't have put up with him.

I think he has already ruffled up too many feathers.

I really liked Nick's final six though – and on top of my prediction from last week about Louisa Johnson, I think she is going to be joined in the final by Che Chesterman.

When he walked on stage he didn't look the whole package but his voice was incredible.

He is 100% my favourite from the boy's category to make it to the final.

Time to Just do one!

JUSTIN Bieber needs to get a grip. He is so annoying!

And why has the media plastered him all over every paper and website with his cock out?

He's a young arrogant popstar – of course he is going to do stupid things like that.

And to make things worse he has been gloating about how big he is – he's not arsed he was caught naked.

At the end of the day, Justin Bieber is still a kid to me, and when you throw someone that young into the limelight and give them a load of cash they are obviously going to act weird.

But I can't stand to even read about him – he makes my blood boil!

Naughty but nice, Nicki!

BUSTY Nicki Minaj gets bap happy - by taking a picture of her TIT in a sexy dress. The 32-year-old singer posted the sultry selfie on Instagram ahead of her performance on US comedy show Saturday Night Live. And she wore the plunging purple outfit while giving a sizzling rendition of new track The Hills with pop star The Weeknd.

NUN SEX SECRET OF EX-PM

KINKY former Italian Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi held steamy sex sessions with women dressed as NUNS, we can reveal.

The 79-year-old was banned from office for two years after his conviction for tax fraud in 2013.

The disgraced politician was also ordered to carry out community service.

In a raunchy new biography the tycoon one of the richest men in Italy admitted to holding shagging bushes at his mansion before resigning from office four years ago.

The claims have been laid bare in the book Mr. Berlusconi in His Own Words.

The book reads: "Witnesses have told him at Berlusconi's lavish sex parties at his mansion outside Milan

By SAM WALKER
samw@sunday.sport.co.uk

girls plucked from the world of TV, modeling and showbusiness would dress up as nuns to perform stripteases and sex acts. "During dinner and burlesque lap dancing shows he would choose the girls to stay on to have sex with him in exchange for cash and jewellery."

However, Berlusconi dismisses allegations that he paid for sex with 17-year-old Moroccan nightclub dancer Ruby the Heartstealer, a crime for which he was initially convicted but later acquitted on appeal.

In Italy it is a crime to pay a person under the age of 18 for sex. In the book the three-times Italian premier claims he never touched the teenager and said there is no proof they ever had sex.

He also denies claims that he bedded 33 women in two months.

KINKY Danielle Wilshire confessed she has a secret lust for BONDAGE in the bedroom.

The 23 year-old stunner admitted it really turns her on when her lover takes charge and revealed she likes to be tied up and blindfolded to spice things up.

Danielle, whose all natural 32D whoopers are still growing, prefers kinky sex to romantic sex – and said staring into each other's eyes and making love is just boring to her.

Passion

The Stratford born scorch said: "Kinky sex is always better. I like a man to start off romantically, by kissing my neck and seducing me, but then to have some raw passion."

"I quite like a bit of bondage. I like being tied up and blindfolded."

"I think role play would be fun too, but I've never tried it."

Million dollar BOOBS!

By JESS GALLEY

THAT'S no Lady!

Elizabeth McGovern kept her clothes well and truly on as Lady Grantham in ITV's Downton Abbey.

And she won't be getting them out in a new series she hosts, ITV3's Million Dollar Princesses, which kicks off at 9pm on Thursday and looks at the real life stories of the Yank princesses who inspired Downton.

But she wasn't always so reserved: the 54-year-old got her knickers out in the 1941 film Ragtime.

Elizabeth flashed the flesh again in 1984 flick Once Upon A Time In America when she played the love interest of Robert De Niro's gangster character.

And she treated fans to another glimpse of her port norks in Racing With The Moon in the same year.

I WAS ALIENS' SEX SLAVE ON THE MOON

— Says ex-USAF worker

A FORMER air force worker has claimed she was ABDUCTED by reptile aliens who raped her on The Moon.

Niara Terela Isley, who worked as a radar tracking officer, said she was snatched by a "humanoid with a tail" and taken to a secret base on the far side of The Moon.

While there, she said she was made to have SEX with ALIENS.

Ms Isley told how she worked at the Tonopah Test Range in Nevada, USA, but said she could recall very little detail about her time there.

She claimed security guards raped her in front of an audience after she was jabbed in the neck with a mystery drug while in an underground lair where she was sexually assaulted.

In taped interviews, she claimed she was taken into space eight to 10 times over several months when she was 25.

She said the aliens put her to work having her operate electronic machinery to excavate the darkest parts of The Moon.

to think her memory had been wiped.

The incidents stopped in 1980, she said.

She sought hypnosis in an attempt to fill the holes in her memory and it helped her uncover more details about the abuse she experienced on The Moon.

Describing her abductor, she said "He was humanoid and did have a tail".

She said he had yellow eyes with vertical slit pupils.

On the "dark side" of The Moon, she said "There was a lot of sexual abuse".

Scared

She said there was excavation work to expand the "military base" and she had to carry out manual labour, including "moving boxes".

Ms Isley, a mum-of-one who now lives in Colorado, said: "At night I wasn't allowed to sleep and was passed around for more sex."

"I was scared. I knew I had to get back to my daughter so I was pretty compliant. I just didn't want to do anything that would get me killed."

'Sloppy' Kim set for Swiss finish school

REALITY star Kim Kardashian has been threatened with finishing school by hubby Kanye West

The reality babe 34 who is expecting her second child with the hip hop star said he is getting fed up with her sloppy table manners.

Rihanna: The sex

By JACK MOTTERTSHEAD

jack@sun-sport.co.uk

THESE are the raunchy pics that pop princess Rihanna didn't want you to see.

The self-confessed bad gal may be no stranger to causing a stir but it seems as if the songstress has outdone herself with these eye-popping pics.

Despite the glitz and glam of an A-list life, the R&B singer showed us she still loves a bit of naughty nookie, albeit on a multi-million pound yacht.

The Barbados born beauty is all aboard as she boozes on top of a lucky foil whilst sipping champagne by the water.

Ample

And it seems that Rihanna was happy to let the world know that she loves the high life after flashing a cannabis leaf on her peachy behind.

The inked babe also showed off her other tattoos including an Egyptian winged design under her cleavage and a pistol by the side of her ample assets.

A source said: "She really lives up to her good girl gone bad image. Rihanna already had several tattoos in sexy places and it seems she won't stop anytime soon."

Rihanna got also steamy while posing for the camera in a sexy selfie - the busty babe teases as she touches herself.

Never one to stay out of the spotlight, the 27-year-old showed she has a saucy side in both her private and public life as she flashed her nipple piercing in a barely there mesh top on the red carpet.

Caitlin

WYNTERS

By SAM WALKER

SAUCY Caitlin Wynters revealed she loves to get naughty outside – and once shagged on a BEACH. The 24-year-old admitted getting hot and heavy in an ocean view restaurant while chatting to the waiter.

Rather than wait for dessert, the brunette stunner told how she took him down to the shoreline and got dirty in the sand.

So here she is showing off her own 34DD dunes in a pair of tiny black panties.

Gorgeous

Caitlin, from Warratzen, near London, said: "I was on holiday and after a few cocktails I got chatting to a waiter, who was sexy and gorgeous."

"We spent the evening chatting and then went and had sex on the beach."

"It was really amazing!" And when she's not romping in the sand, Caitlin said she's chatting up POLICEMEN.

She added: "There's something about coppers – I think it must be the power and the uniform."

"And we could definitely have fun messing around with the handcuffs!"

Mixing with hot babes gives guys more sex appeal

By JESS GALLEY

jg@sundaysport.co.uk

LISTEN up guys - the key to bagging yourself a SEXY piece of arm candy is to surround yourself by GORGEOUS women.

New research has found that fellas who are seen out with stunning girlfriends instantly become more attractive to other women.

And the study also revealed that girls take note of who other beautiful women choose to date.

The research was carried out by Dr Anthony Little at the University of Stirling in Scotland and could explain the age old mystery of how some bog standard men bag themselves sizzling girlfriends.

Psychology lecturer Dr Little said: "Research reveals if a man surrounds himself with attractive female friends or has an attractive partner, they automatically become more attractive to the opposite sex."

"Being paired with an attractive partner or friend increases a man's chances of finding a mate."

The online study quizzed just under 200 women, aged between 17 and 52, and asked them to rate pictures of 20 men on a scale of one to seven for attractiveness as long term partners.

Stunning

At the same time they were shown a picture of a woman said to be his partner who they were told was either popular or unpopular.

Dr Little said: "We found women rated target men paired with a popular female model as more attractive than men paired with a less popular female model."

Model Holly Short, 22, said it makes her compete more for a man's attention if he is surrounded by a group of gorgeous female friends or even a stunning girl friend.

The 34DD beauty from Nottingham said: "I totally agree with this. If I am out and a guy catches my eye then I usually let nothing stand in my way of getting him."

"And if he is surrounded by beautiful women then it only makes me up my game even more."

"I can't stand to lose - and if he can bag himself that many stunning in the first place then I always think 'Well he must be worth pursuing'."

BUXOM Bexie Williams loves a bit of sex on the beach – and she doesn't just mean the cocktail!

The saucy 32DD stunna fantasises about being ravished on a secluded sandy shore

The 22-year-old glamour model, from London, has revealed she would love a suave fella to whisk her off to exotic lands for some risky rumpy pump

Flirting

Bexie said: "I'd love to meet a guy who woos me by flying me out for a surprise trip to a luxury island such as Bora Bora or the Maldives

"I'm all for some old-fashioned wining and dining – and enjoying all the flirting, build-up and anticipation

"Then we'd be strolling along a quiet bench in the night darkness

when he gets a look in his eye that he has to have me now and we kiss passionately

"Then he'd slip his hands under my dress and into my knickers, and I can't help but moan with pleasure

"It's so sexy when a man takes charge. He then pulls me down onto the sand and takes me as the waves lap against our naked bodies

"Under the moon and stars and the fresh sea air, we feel totally uninhibited as we both climax together

"We don't care that anyone could walk by and catch us... that's why it's so thrilling

"And after all that exciting action on the holiday, we may as well carry it on in the plane and join the Mile High Club!"

Horny blonde got dirty with loo two

Dear Krystal,

ME and my mate picked up this girl in a club the other night.

She was a stunner with long legs, big boobs and a gorgeous gobble's gob - and she was shagging me and my pal in the gents' just half an hour after she met us.

As soon as I walked in the club I spotted this blonde getting up to some seriously dirty dancing with a red-headed girl pal. As they carressed each other, occasionally kissing and feeling each other's arses, I winked at my mate. We were over to them like a shot and they didn't seem too bothered as we started dancing with them.

I could hardly believe my ears when the blonde leaned over and asked if I fancied a "k".

I dragged her to the gents' and as soon as I'd shut the cubicle door behind us she was tonguing me and rubbing my dick.

She was obviously well up for some hanky panky and eagerly undid my flies, jerking off my mighty eight incher.

Thrust

She plonked herself down on the toilet seat lid and began licking and sucking my shaft from the tip to my aching balls.

I was on the verge of coming in her throat when my mate called out that the ginger babe had blown him out.

The blonde stopped giving me head to invite him to join us. My pal was grinning all over his silly chops when she began giving him a slow, lingering gobble.

It was a tight squeeze in the cubicle but I managed to position her so that I could get a good thrust at her arse and hoisted her skirt up around her waist.

As she slurped on my mate's cock I pulled her G-string aside and plunged into her doggy-style.

It wasn't long before me and my pal were shooting our loads. Then we swapped positions and went through the routine again.

Back at the bar, the blonde came over and asked us to buy her a drink.

But she swore at us when we said no and we can't understand her attitude. Can you?

FC, Merseyside

Krystal says...

YES, you tight-fisted, chauvinistic prick!

Letter of the day

Dear Krystal,

FOR several years I have been working as a gardener for a wealthy family who live in a large mansion.

The owner has a formidable wife, who we call "the duchess" behind her back.

She slips into her study every morning and draws the curtains. I was puzzled by this until one morning I peered through a chink in the drapes and got the shock of my life.

The duchess was lying stark naked across a big oak desk with her Swedish air purifier standing over her grasping a large courgette, which she slid inside her pussy.

She pleased her for a full 10 minutes before her ladyship let out a loud moan of satisfaction. The duchess then abruptly dismissed the blonde.

Now I am wondering whether to offer the air purifier my services.

And I wouldn't need a courgette, because I have a ready-made nine-incher.

MT, Berks

Krystal says...

BE careful. You'll be in the soup if the duchess finds out.

Own goal tosser

Dear Krystal,

MY new girlfriend is a right cracker with flame-red hair, firm tits and a fine round arse.

She's really fit and sporty and plays at striker for a women's football team.

Last weekend, she persuaded me to go and watch her in action and I wasn't disappointed.

Getting an eyeful of all those athletic women in tight-fitting kits was horny enough, but seeing all those wobbly tits and flashing thighs soon gave me a stonking great hard-on.

And I was soon forced to sneak off to the loo for a quick ham-shank.

When I got back to the match, I found out that my girl had scored.

But she'd clocked I wasn't there when she was celebrating and at half time she tore into me and told me I was a wanker for missing her goal.

What do you think?

DT, Hants

Krystal says...

WELL, she's right, isn't she?

Dear Krystal,

I WORK as a shop assistant in a small sports store in a busy city centre.

Last week, I had to open up the store and manage on my own as my boss was stuck in traffic.

It wasn't long before a blonde beauty walked in and asked if she could try on a few bikinis.

I told her that wouldn't be a problem and pointed her in the direction of the changing rooms.

To my surprise - and delight - she came out of the changing room in a really sexy outfit, looked me in the eye and said "What do you think?"

I said she looked "f---king great" while trying to hide my boner, because she truly was amazing.

Then she bent over and asked how her arse looked and if I could see any pubes sticking out.

I'd barely had time to reply before she suddenly whipped off her bikini top and swung her huge tits in my face.

She said she was feeling horny and ordered me to close the shop.

Sopping

She grabbed me and rammed her tongue down my throat while I eased down her bikini bottoms and slid a couple of fingers up her sopping snatch.

She pushed me up against the till and pulled down my trackies to reveal my trembling six-incher.

She knelt on the floor and licked and sucked me until I thought I'd spurt on her lovely golden hair.

When I was fit to burst she pulled her head away, bent over and said "Right, get it in there."

But just as I was about to unload I heard a banging on the front doors of the store. I looked up and it was my boss trying to get in.

The woman got dressed in a flash and scurried, leaving me alone to face the music.

Now my boss, a bitch of a woman in her 50s, wants me to shag her to save my job.

What should I do?

BAILEY

JOE Goode, 33 from Blackpool said he'd love to try his hands on Busty Bailey.

The Kingston-upon-Thames babe has graced the pages of the Midweek Sport many times over the years so we thought it was only right to bring the beauty back again.

And carpenter Joe won't be complaining after admitting he can't get enough of the 26-year-old's massive 34DD boobs.

He said: "She's a lovely looking girl and her tits are out of this world. I've been waiting ages to see her again, so could you please help a guy out?"

NATALIA PHILLIPS

NATALIA Phillip s 32B norks are a firm favourite among a lot of our readers.

Bus driver Tom Fahy from Sunderland is no different and has requested a repeat appearance from the Surrey-born Sizzler, 29.

Tom, 46 said: "Natalia is a big favourite of me and the lads at work. We always have a flick through the paper at HQ to see if she's gonna be getting them out. Do us all a massive favour by showing her again, please."

LAUREN POPE

LUSTY Lauren Pope's appearance this week is thanks to chippy owner Adam Mail.

The 26-year-old from Manchester was so impressed by Lauren's 32E sweater-stretchers that he just had to see more of the Torquay scorcher.

He said: "I had a few snaps of Lauren lying about at work but they got damaged by all the food."

"Getting another poster to put back on the wall would definitely help make things a lot more entertaining for me and the guys."

Michelle Morgan says...

I'VE never bedded a woman and wouldn't want to go one-on-one. But if my fella asked me I would definitely consider a threesome, though I'd want to make sure all the attention was on me. There's no way my bloke is even slightly gay, though I wouldn't mind being doubled-ended if he was up for getting another guy involved.

sexuality may be more flexible and adaptive than men's. Women who are initially successful in partnering with men as is more traditionally expected may never explore their attraction to other women.

"However, women with the same sexual attractions but less favourable heterosexual options may have greater opportunity to experiment with same sex partners."

Fantasies

The researchers found that self-confessed bisexual celebrities such as Miley Cyrus, Angelina Jolie and Cara Delevingne made women more likely to admit their lesbian fantasies.

The study also revealed youngsters are more than four times likelier than old people to be non heterosexual

While 2.6 per cent of people aged 16-24 are homosexual or bisexual that slumps to 0.6 per cent among the over 65 group. Around 2.1 per cent of people in managerial positions are lesbian, gay or bisexual, that's 50 per cent higher than the 1.4 per cent figure for manual workers.

London is the country's lesbian, gay and bisexual capital with 2.6 per cent of the city's population identifying themselves as such.

Second highest is the South East with 1.8 per cent. Northern Ireland and the South West are third with 1.6 per cent. The East Midlands is lowest at 1.0 per cent.

Dr McClintock, who helped with the research, added: "Men are less often attracted to both sexes."

"Men's sexuality is, in a sense, less flexible. If a man is only attracted to one sex, romantic opportunity would little alter his sexual identity."

Laura Cooke says...

WOMEN are much sexier than men. They are gentler – and I love boobs. But a woman is no substitute for a big hard cock. I've had a few drunken snogs with my mates before but nothing more than that. And there's only so much fun to be had with toys!

"We could have fun for the day and then maybe go and have sex in the woods."

"That sounds a lot more fun than a pretentious restaurant."

She added "And I'd love a threesome with two blokes. It would be ridiculously hot."

"I like the idea of being the centre of attention."

LET MICK LIVESEY PUT YOU ON TO A SPORTS BETTING WINNER!

KLOPP TO BE NEW KING OF THE KOP!

JURGEN Klopp waited in to Merseyside and announced he is the 'Normal One' but to Liverpool fans around the world they will be hoping he is very much the 'Special One'.

Can the German bring back the glory days to Liverpool?

It is not going to be easy as they've not won a league title since 1990 and Klopp has inherited a squad he can do little to change until January.

It is a safe bet they won't be winning the Premier League this year but over the next few seasons, with the right investment he could be the man to bring the title back to Anfield.

In the last quarter of a century the Liverpool faithful have had to watch six different clubs taste league glory and none surely have been more painful than watching bitter rivals Manchester United do it 13 times.

Klopp has a mammoth task ahead of him but Liverpool are paying him the big bucks.

He's penned a three-year contract worth £21million.

The pressure is on but he will deliver at worse a top six finish and you can get 4/7 about him completing that particular mission this season.

If I was Klopp I'd immediately try and get Jamie Carragher and/or Steven Gerrard on my staff and you can get even money he adds at least one of them to his team.

What about Liverpool winning a major trophy this season?

If you think they can land one you can get 100/30.

I like the 18/1 about Liverpool tasting Europa League Cup success but from a betting point of view I am all over the 4/7 top six finish.

ALLARDYCE TO BEAT DROP

★ Sunderland fans welcomed Sam Allardyce with a little less enthusiasm than the Liverpool fans welcomed Klopp.

But the facts is Sam Allardyce (inset) is boring but he's proven at working minor miracles and safely taking teams away from the relegation zone.

If I was a Sunderland fan I'd be doing cartwheels outside the Stadium of Light because finally they have a man who will bring them stability.

This is just about his biggest job to date because, let's be honest here, Sunderland have been very poor this season to date.

The Black Cats are relegation favourites after not winning a single game this season.

You don't have to search far to spot the problem Big Sam faces.

His new side have only scored eight but conceded a whopping 18 goals in their eight games so far.

If there is one thing you can bank on him doing it is stopping his team from leaking goals.

In no time at all Sunderland will become very boring but also very hard to beat.

Bournemouth, Aston Villa, Newcastle, Norwich, Watford alongside Sunderland are in a relegation dog fight.

Out of all of the managers of these clubs 60 year old Allardyce is the one with huge experience of relegation battles.

He's not only been in them he's survived to tell the tale.

I'm punting Big Sam to get the job done and for Sunderland to avoid relegation at the massive price of 3/1.

BRADFORD PA v SALFORD

★ Bradford Park Avenue entertain Salford City tonight in the FA Cup third qualifying round replay.

The two sides fought out a 1-1 draw but tonight you have to fancy Bradford to get the job done.

The home side have a good FA Cup pedigree having reached the 1st Round proper three times since they reformed.

The visitors have never progressed further than this phase and play their football one league below their rivals.

The reward for the victors is a home draw against Southport in the final qualifying round.

200-300 fans can shout Bradford PA on to victory, Chib Chibaka for mercy of Bradford City and his team mates can fire Martin Drury's men to victory at 8/5.

If you want something bigger then look at 13/5 for them to win at HT and FT.

TALKING POINT

★ Big Sam has been unveiled the new Sunderland manager and I've tipped him to guide them to safety but what do you think?

This is what the man himself tweeted @OfficialBigSam: Fond memories of the Roker Roar as a player. Now let's make some positive memories at the Stadium of Light. What a fantastic place to be.

The fans' view

@Paulmaughan73: #allardyce will be a good appointment in the short term. Problem is the football will be dreadful. #safe fans will be sick by next season. #nuff

@st.kichen1991: Only just seen Allardyce has been appointed Sunderland boss! He'll do a good job there I reckon! #Allardyce

@avnorm: How many defeats before the #Blackcats suddenly remember that #Allardyce managed the #Geordies? #bigsam

This sums it up nicely @benrosmn: So Sunderland are staying up then. #Allardyce

CRICKET FIRST TEST DAY ONE : PAKISTAN v ENGLANDBELL DROPS A CLANGER*TWO sitters hit the deck

A DOUBLE drop from Ian Bell hurt England as Pakistan made a solid start to the first Test in Dubai.

The Warwickshire man put down two simple chances, the worst was a real dolly that would have sent Hafeez packing for just five runs. It would have put the "homo" side under massive pressure at 12-2.

He was eventually out hours later with 98 runs to his name when Ben Stokes trapped him LBW.

And with the memory of his first cock-up finding, Bell did it again. In the 88th over of a long and punishing day, Jimmy Anderson got the new ball to seam and clip the edge of Shafiq's bat.

It was the kind of catch that Geoff Boycott's mum would have caught in her piny. But it went into Bell's hands and straight out again.

You will never see a simpler chance go to the slips and it is ridiculous that he managed to put it down.

Record

And there was a third let off for Pakistan when Stuart Broad overstepped the line when coaxing a catch from Shoaib.

He was on 40 at the time and went on to finish unbeaten on 124, making it a very costly miss.

It makes it SIX times this year that England have taken a wicket only for it to be chalked off for a no ball. Surely it's time to measure these run-ups again lads.

Pakistan walked off the field in a decent position at 286-4.

The day was also notable for Younis Khan, who broke Javed Miandad's Test runs record while making his 38.

The mark of 8,832 had stood for an impressive 22 years and Khan brought it up in style.

He smashed Moam Ali out of the park for a six — a shot that the ferv Miandad would have been proud of himself. He was later caught by captain Alastair Cook off the bowling of Broad, who managed to keep his foot behind the line this time.

RECORD: Younis Khan

Skipper Misbah-ul-Haq paid tribute to Younis, saying: "It's always an honour to share dressing room with players like Younis Khan."

"He has always been the key man in the Pakistan side as an important for our wins and has been doing well for the last few years."

"He is really performing well with an average of 54 which is great and we always love the way he plays and the way he helps every other player, especially the youngsters and it's an honour to play with him."

England had made a good start when Anderson dismissed Masood for just two and Misbah went for three.

But the day belonged on balance to Pakistan.

DROPS: Bell couldn't catch in the warm-up either!CROCK: WilliamsWalker replaces Williams*RUGBY WORLD CUP

OSPREYS wing Eil Walker has been called into the Wales squad to replace Liam Williams.

The Scarlets back picked up a foot injury in the 16-6 loss against the Aussies at Twickenham.

Walker has already trained with the squad ahead of the quarter-final with South Africa at the weekend.

Williams didn't have the best of World Cups and was forced off the field with concussion during the 28-26 win over England in the opening game.

Wales have now lost SIX key men to various injuries so it has been a fantastic effort to make it through to the final eight.

Wales assistant coach Neil Jenkins said: "We are very sorry for Liam. He has been outstanding in the last couple of years."

"He's a huge player for us, and he did well again against Australia."

"He will be a huge loss, but we have had quite a few injuries now and we have to get on with it."

"The amount of players we have lost isn't ideal."

"We are a pretty small nation anyway, but we still had a pretty potent back line out there on Saturday and I am sure it will be the same again next weekend."

"We have had incredible bad luck, there is no doubt about that."

With all the injuries, it was a surprise to see World Rugby confirm that the casualty count has been in line with previous World Cups.

A statement said: "It is looking more serious because of the size of the games where injuries happened, but monitoring is not showing the number to be extraordinary."

END OF WORLD FOR O'CONNELL

IRELAND captain Paul O'Connell (left) has pulled on a green jersey for the final time.

The 35-year-old has been ruled out of the rest of the World Cup with a torn hamstring picked up against France at the weekend.

He retires from international rugby and is moving to French club Toulon in time for next season.

Iain Henderson came on for the skipper and is likely to keep his place for Saturday's quarter-final clash against Argentina.

Jamie Heaslip (right) will lead out the boys in green at the Millennium Stadium in Cardiff.

"Paul O'Connell suffered a significant hamstring injury and will undergo surgery this week," said an Irish Rugby statement.

RUGBY WORLD CUP

"Paul will not play again at Rugby World Cup 2015 and his time out of the game will depend on the outcome of the surgery."

"Mike McCarthy has been called up to the Ireland squad in place of Paul O'Connell."

It has been a bruising World Cup for Ireland and O'Connell is just one of a long list of casualties.

Peter O'Mahony won't play in the tournament with knee ligament damage, which is another major blow. And Ireland are waiting to see if flanker Sean O'Brien will be banned after being cited for what looked like a punch on French forward Pascal Pappe in the weekend win.

Rob Kearney says O'Connell has always been an inspiration to the team, even when he was lying in agony in the dressing room after the France win.

He said: "At half-time it was mixed emotions, seeing your captain injured heavily."

"We felt awful for him but it was great to see the sheer delight on his face after the game in terms of what we'd achieved as opposed to feeling sorry for himself."

"That was brilliant to see and a great sign of the man that he was able to put his own woes behind him and think of the team's achievement first."

"He was just delighted, he was beaming from ear to ear for the first time."

"And when you consider that he was so happy and ecstatic after the game given the pain he was in at half-time, it's small moments like that that make changing rooms after games really special."

It remains to be seen if O'Connell will ever be fit enough to take up his contract in France, although he has a track record of bouncing back from painful injuries.

LIONS A PERFECT 10/1 TO WIN EUROS

RISE
STAR:
Barkley

ENGLAND remain 10/1 for Euro 2016 with BetVictor after finishing their France qualification with a perfect 10 out of 10 after a facile 3-0 win in Lithuania on Monday.

The Three Lions are 33/1 to win all (10) ties in qualification for the World Cup in Russia 2018 and 11/4 to go through the Group stages unbeaten.

Once again they don't look to have the toughest of Groups and that 11/4 could be overpriced.

Competition for France next summer is fierce and BetVictor have a market on any number of players who will be looking to force their way into Hodgson's 23-man squad.

Who will be in England's Euro 2016 squad: (selected players)

Ross Barkley: 2/7 (from 1/2)

Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain: 4/7

Fabian Delph (pictured): 4/6

Kieran Gibbs: 11/10

Jamie Vardy: 7/4

Jonjo Shelvey: 2/1

Roy's boys a double-figure price

Danny Welbeck: 2/1

Fraser Forster: 2/1

Cole: 11/4

Kyle Walker: 3/1

It is too early to say whether Wayne Rooney will be fit for Manchester United's trip to Everton on Saturday.

The United skipper has not scored an away Premier League goal since last November and not scored at Goodison since April 2007.

Short

Everton have beaten United in their last three visits to Goodison and the last side to win four successive home league games against United was Everton again back in the mid-eighties.

I think United are too short at 5/4 with BetVictor with the draw and a Blues win both 12/5. Romelu Lukaku and Anthony Martial head the first goalscorer betting at 11/2 with Rooney 13/2.

Lukaku famously scored a hat-trick against the Red Devils in Fergie's last game in charge at the Hawthorns back in 2013 and he is one of only four players in the history of the PL who have scored a hat-trick against United. Can you name the others?

★ The Jockey Club reintroduced the £1million bonus if any horse wins Chasing's Triple Crown of Betfair Chase/King George and Gold Cup.

BetVictor bet 20/1 that any horse wins all three and I wonder if connections of Gold Cup winner Coneygree might be persuaded to bypass the Hennessy in favour of the Haydock race.

A cracking card from Wetherby today and in the feature Bobby Renton Chase a visor is reapplied to Foundation Man who won the corresponding race last year from a filly higher mark.

This is a better renewal but trainer Jonjo O'Neill saddled four winners on this corresponding card 12 months ago and the booking of Noel Fehily is a plus.

The three other players to score a PL hat-trick against United? Dirk Kuyt, Samuel Eto'o and David Bentley.

Recovery going well for Danny

By ANDY MILLOM

DANNY Welbeck has taken a large step forward in his comeback from a knee problem.

The Arsenal forward says he can see the end in sight from his injury nightmare.

He is eyeing up January to return to action for the Gunners after having a knee operation in September.

Welbeck went under the knife just a couple of days after the transfer window closed, with boss Arsene Wenger copping lots of stick for not signing another forward while he could.

But the Gunners have not been shy in front of goal since then and Welbeck wants to be a part of it once more.

The 24-year-old has had his leg brace removed and wants to get back into training as soon as possible.

He said: "It's difficult to put an exact date on it but I'd like to be back around the new year."

After I had the operation, I was in a leg brace for about four weeks — which wasn't easy.

"I had to do a lot of machine work, about six hours a day."

"Sleeping in a leg brace isn't good. At night it's not comfortable, it's the first time I've slept on my back in years."

"It's good to finally be out of the brace now and walking. It feels like I'm getting that little bit closer to getting back out on the pitch."

If Welbeck can get a good number of games in before the season ends, he's likely to be part of Roy Hodgson's England squad for the Euro 2016 finals in France next summer.

He was a regular for the Three Lions in qualifying before his injury, with an impressive six goals in five games.

But Welbeck just wants to get back in the Arsenal team and isn't worried about his international place.

He added: "I am not looking ahead to the Euros at the moment."

"I need to get back for Arsenal first, then see what happens. It's never good to get injured at any point. It is frustrating."

"I missed the back end of last season, then came back into pre-season training and you go through it all again with the rehab. It is frustrating."

"But it is something which is part and parcel of the game. It is something I have to deal with."

EAGER Aguero

Aguero set to Serg back from his injury

SERGIO AGUERO could be back in action for Manchester City a month ahead of schedule.

Early scans revealed that the hamstring injury he picked up playing for Argentina could keep him out for eight weeks.

But the hitman says he hopes to be back in HALF that time.

He definitely wants to be ready to play for his country against the old enemy Brazil next month.

That said, Aguero has had a long-running battle with his hamstrings and doesn't want to rush and cause more injuries.

Aguero scored an amazing FIVE goals on his last appearance for City as they blitzed Newcastle 6-1 after being a goal behind.

So he is a big man for both club and country just as he had turned his season around.

Aguero said: "Hopefully I can play against Brazil, but I must heal the injury so that it does suffer more."

"This is an injury that you have to recover slowly from, but of course I want to recover quickly."

Dembele to take a Nap

TOTTENHAM will let Moussa Dembele join Nupoli for £10million in January.

The midfielder has failed to win back his place in the Spurs team after missing September with a foot injury.

The Italians were close to buying the 23-year-old in the summer but a deal couldn't be concluded.

Now Spurs want some cash so boss Mauricio Pochettino can strengthen in other positions.

Dembele moved to White Hart Lane from Fulham three years ago for £15m.

He was a first teamer until Pochettino switched his tactics to give Harry Kane as a lone forward. Dembele has been the man to miss out as Tottenham's results have improved under the new system and there are plenty of other midfield options

Stadium of shame

WE'RE IN BIG TROUBLE, ADMITS NEW BOSS BIG SAM

SAM ALLARDYCE says keeping Sunderland up would be his career's biggest achievement.

He is under no illusions as to how big the task is at the Stadium of Light. Sunderland are second from bottom having picked up just three points from their first eight games.

They still haven't won a match and have shipped a mighty 18 goals so far.

That's despite previous boss Dick Advocaat spending big money to "improve" the

By BRENDAN MACKIE

Black Cats' defence over the summer.

And Big Sam is ready to get stuck in on Wearside.

He said: "It is a big challenge. Even at this early stage of the season it is clear we are in trouble."

"The fact that we have 30 games will be as important as anything else because it may take the vast majority of them to get safe on the basis that it can take such a long time to catch up."

Allardyce has been out of football since losing his job at West Ham in the summer. He has the ideal track record for Sunderland in that he has NEVER been relegated.

That despite facing tough times with clubs like Bolton, Blackburn and even Newcastle.

He becomes the first manager to boss the north-east's two biggest clubs and says he couldn't stay out of the fray any longer.

Allardyce added: "The challenge is something I need, it is in my blood."

"Waking up and coming in here, it's not work really. It is almost an addiction."

Rumours about Peter Reid being his assistant seem unlikely, although he is big pals with the former Sunderland boss.

Disappointed

It's the players that Big Sam is focused on now, given that he'll have to wait three months before he can do any wheeling and dealing when the transfer window opens.

There are some proven performers in the squad and Allardyce shares the fans' frustration at their poor start to the season.

He said: "Given the situation we are in now the players are disappointed with what they have produced."

Allardyce wants to improve the squad, but the Black Cats' faithful might not be thrilled with the name Big Sam first came up with.

He said: "We'll assess what the squad is like overall before we think about bringing in Kevin Nolan."

EVANS COULD PUL OUT OF SUN TRIP

By ANDY MILLOM

JONNY EVANS is a major doubt for West Brom's weekend clash with Sunderland.

The former Man United centre-back (left) missed Northern Ireland's Euro qualifier with a hamstring injury and is struggling to make it in time. Baggies boss Tony Pulis will have everything crossed that his summer signing is available as he struggles with a long list of walking wounded.

James Morrison is also facing a fitness fight after picking up an ankle knock and there are problems across the defence.

Jonas Olsson is struggling to come back from a groin injury and Pulis hasn't been impressed with £8million summer signing from Hull, James Chester, who has been relegated to the bench whenever Evans has been fit.

The West Brom gaffer is fuming that his Baggies side have shipped eight goals in their past three games.

He builds his teams not to concede and will be regretting his decision to let Joleon Lescott move across Birmingham to Aston Villa.

Evans has an extra incentive to be fit to face Sunderland in new manager Sam Allardyce's first game in charge. He was sent out on loan to the Black Cats in his early days at Old Trafford, playing 35 times in two different spells.

An anxious Pulis said: "We're hoping everyone returns back OK from the internationals."

Pleasing

"Evans and Morrison are still being assessed at this stage. "We will see how they are, but both are doubts."

And Pulis is far from happy at having to play a Premier League game when some of his players have been in all corners of the world on international duty.

He added: "Many of the players won't be back in till later this week. Salomon Rondon, Stephane Sessegnon and Cristian Gamboa for instance don't come back until late Thursday or early Friday."

"It's ridiculous really but there's nothing we can do about it."

Pulis hopes his men who were involved in helping Northern Ireland and Wales qualify for France will come back with a spring in their step.

He said: "It's pleasing to see them both qualify."

"I hope we will see a reaction from those players who were involved."

"If we do, brilliant."

TARGET: Valdez

Toon want to nick Vic and plug goalie gap

NEWCASTLE are desperate to sign Victor Valdez from Man United.

The Toon Army lost goalie Tim Krul for the season when he was injured playing for Holland at the weekend.

And they want the experienced stopper – who is not wanted at Old Trafford – to fill the gap.

But they need United boss Louis van Gaal to rip up the 33-year-old's contract so he's a free agent.

That's because the transfer window has closed and clubs can't buy players who are under contract until January.

The problem is that the Dutchman isn't happy to help a Premier League "rival" even though it would get the former Barca goalie's wages off the accounts.

If he refuses, the Toon will have to muddle through until the window opens again after Christmas.

They have just one senior back-up keeper in Rob Elliot as No.2 Karl Darlow is also injured.

It means a youth team goalie will have to be on the bench.

Besiktas set to take the Mik

BESIKTAS still have Chelsea midfielder John Obi Mikel at the top of their shopping list.

The Turkish giants will be back with a bid in January after being foiled in their attempts to buy the 28-year-old in the summer.

Mikel has hardly had a kick this season which gives Besiktas president Fikret Omer confidence that a deal can be done.

He said: "We were going to sign Mikel in the summer, and we could enter the race again over the winter break."

Chelsea will redouble their own efforts to buy a big-name midfielder with another move for Juventus star Paul Pogba.

Jose Mourinho was keen to buy him – and Everton centre-back John Stones – in the summer, but got knocked back for both targets.

UNITED KEEPER FEELS IN THE FORM OF HIS LIFE

SIMPLY THE BEST!

I have never been better, says David

DAVID DE GEA says he is in the best form of his entire career.

By MARK NAYLOR

The Man United goalkeeper earned rave reviews after his fantastic performance for Spain this week.

And he says he can inspire United to the title – just like he did when they last won it three years ago.

In Sir Alex Ferguson's final season, the Spaniard broke opposition forwards' hearts almost every week with a string of superb saves.

A lot of water has gone under the bridge since then.

He "signed" for Real Madrid on transfer day in August – only for an admin balls-up to scupper the move.

United gaffer Louis van Gaal left him in the stands until that saga was over with dodgy stand-in keeper Sergio Romero getting the nod, much to the dismay of the Red faithful.

But he's come back into the side now and looks as assured as ever.

And he showed what he's still capable of when keeping out no fewer than 27 shots from Ukraine on international duty.

The performance earned him rave reviews in Spain and saw the papers there call even more loudly for him to take (above) Iker Casillas' No.1 spot for good.

Now De Gea is determined to bring that form back to United.

Van Gaal's men face a crunch clash against Everton at Goodison Park on Saturday.

And the Spaniard is up for it. He said: "I am in the best form of my career. But I have to compete to the max in every game."

The trip to take on Everton will show Van Gaal just how far his team has come in the past 12 months.

Last season, United were given a 3-0 pasting by the Toffees. And, according to Van Gaal, it was clear that his players were not in the right mood as soon as they went out for the warm-up.

He said: "You shall always be compared with your opponent in aggression and motivation and Everton really wanted to win and I don't think we equalled it."

"The fighting spirit of Everton was higher."

"I had already the feeling and my colleagues Ryan Giggs and Albert Stuivenberg had the feeling that the warm up was not so good as usual."

"In the last minutes before the game you hope you can recover and stimulate your players, but then it is too late."

"You have to prepare the match already two or three days before and Everton had done that and they have won because of that."

United should have skipper Wayne Rooney back to face his former club.

The 29-year-old missed out on England's final two Euro 2016 qualifiers with an ankle problem.

But he could have played in the second of those at a push and is fit for the Goodison challenge.

United need to bounce back from the 3-0 defeat at Arsenal before the international break, but it won't be easy as Everton are unbeaten since the end of August.

CARLO'S SNUB PUT KLOPP AT KOP

By PAUL THOMAS

CARLO ANCELOTTI turned down the Liverpool job BEFORE it was offered to Jurgen Klopp.

Harry Redknapp lifted the lid on the inside dealings at Anfield when Brendan Rodgers was sacked.

The former Spurs boss says the Italian was the No.1 choice of the Anfield owners to take over.

And only after Ancelotti (left) said no, did they turn to Klopp.

"Any said: 'I have heard from good sources that Ancelotti was offered the Liverpool job.'

"I don't think he wanted it. They spoke to him at some stage."

But now that he's here,

Redknapp thinks Klopp can bring the good times back to Anfield.

He said: "I do like the look of Klopp, he's a good appointment."

"He's looks bright, with great enthusiasm and he looks like he could be a really good addition to the Premier League."

"I'm looking forward to watching Liverpool play over the next few years."

The German's first game is against Tottenham at White Hart Lane on Saturday and the former Borussia Dortmund manager knows it will be a big challenge to make the Reds title contenders again.

He said: "I am humbled to have this chance."

"Lots of German coaches have been successful but not many come here. This is a big challenge for me and my coaching team."

Historical

"Liverpool have had a period without success and changed managers a lot. Now the hope is for miracles, but progress takes time."

"I had a long talk with owner John Henry. The aim is to develop a recognisable brand of football."

It feels like a dream. I came here with Dortmund one year ago and for me it was historical.

"I have been some places in the world with football, but this is the most special place."

"This is maybe the hardest challenge at the moment in world football. This is the most interesting job in world football."

Klopp was boosted by the return to training of Philippe Coutinho after the Brazilian recovered from injury.

He also has had the chance to work with Daniel Sturridge, who missed the England games as he heads towards full match fitness.

CONFIDENT:
Kane

Harry's Spurred on to face the best of the rest

HARRY KANE says England's confidence is "sky high" after completing their perfect 10 qualifying wins for Euro 2016.

The Spurs hitman has continued his excellent form in a Three Lions shirt and impressed again during the 3-0 win over Lithuania on Monday night. He thinks England have real momentum heading to France next summer and he's looking forward to testing himself in some high-profile friendlies later this year.

Roy Hodgson's men take on France and Spain, which will be a lot tougher than the likes of San Marino, Slovenia and Estonia who have been easily swatted aside in qualifying.

Kane said: "We'll be playing some of the top nations in the world."

"They are the sort of teams we should be testing ourselves against. It's good preparation for us."

"I don't think we go into the games with any fear."

"We've won 10 out of 10 and the confidence is sky high."

OPENER: Barkley

Delighted

Even though the stiffest games came from a poor Swiss team, it's still a mighty accomplishment for England to win all their qualifiers.

Those 10 victories are part of a 14-game unbeaten run since the World Cup disappointment in 2014.

The win in Vilnius was England's 12th in that sequence and it's the first time they have gone unbeaten in qualifying.

And Kane is delighted to have been part of the success.

He added: "It's a great achievement."

"We are very proud. It's a great achievement for the players, staff and everyone."

"We can't afford to get carried away as we have some top friendlies coming up against some top sides."

"We are looking forward to testing ourselves in those."

Ross Barkley was credited with scoring after his effort was deflected in, but Kane is still smarting from his "goal" being given to the goalie.

The ball cannoned into the keeper on its way into the net after Kane's shot hit the post.

And the striker is not happy, saying: "That's a scandal!"

"I was unlucky not to score officially. I got a few shots off and was quite pleased with the way I played."

"I've just got to keep going at it, keep working hard and the goals will come."

SKIPPER UNDER PRESSURE AT

WHO NEEDS ROO?

Wayne turns 30 fighting for club and country place

By PAUL THOMAS

WAYNE ROONEY is facing a battle to save his career — for both club AND country.

As England cruised to a perfect 10 wins in Euro 2016 qualifying against Lithuania, nobody missed him.

It was a similar story against Estonia in midweek where many Three Lions fans enjoyed watching younger and more mobile players run the game.

Ross Barkley in particular was a star turn and England boss Roy Hodgson isn't keen to play the Everton man and Rooney in the same team.

Given the choice between the two, the majority of fans would go for the rising star over the old stage.

And there are growing grumbles around Old Trafford that Rooney is a shadow of the player he was.

He has scored just once in seven Premier League games for the Reds this season, or 13 matches if you count his barren spell from last term.

United fans are growing tired of Rooney toiling, not showing enough pace to be an out-and-out striker and lacking the guile to be a genuine No. 10.

The Stretford End is running out of patience with their former favourite and there is a growing call for players like Ander Herrera to be given more of a run behind Memphis Depay and Anthony Martial.

As he turns 30 this month, maybe the constant football he's been playing since the age of 16 is catching up with him.

Rooney doesn't have the natural fitness of someone like Ryan Giggs — and nor was he nursed through his early years as the Welshman was by Sir Alex Ferguson.

And he knows he has to up his game if his career isn't to peter out in the same way as Michael Owen's did.

Respect

Rooney is determined to be a force for United and England.

He said: "I train every day as if my place is on the line and I have always done that throughout my career."

"When you get older and have played a lot of games, you become more aware of that."

"I don't want to give my place up. I want to play. I come and work harder every time."

"I want to make it hard for the manager to leave me out over the next couple of years."

Gaffer Louis van Gaal is known for his ruthless streak — just ask Robin van Persie — and Rooney will be the first out of the door if the Dutchman thinks it's the right move for United.

As for England, it seems that Hodgson will show the country's record scorer a bit more respect — but only up to a point.

Rooney has played his full part in qualifying and seems to find goals easier to come by in a white shirt.

But the boss is under pressure to keep his job and is desperate to avoid a repeat of the 2014 World Cup where

WAYNE-ING STAR? Van Gaal (right) could give Rooney the same treatment as Van Persie (below)

PROMISING: Hodgson

Roy says the perfect 10 is a platform for the Euros

ROY HODGSON has promised England fans there will be no repeat of the World Cup fiasco in France next summer.

Crashing out in Brazil at the group stage two years ago is still fresh in the memory, when the Three Lions couldn't even beat Costa Rica.

Now England have cruised through to the Euro 2016 finals and the gaffer says he's still fuming about their last tournament flop.

Hodgson said: "It's still very hard to put into words the disappointment you feel after working hard and preparing for a finals as we did and then to go out after two games. I still can't describe my feelings."

And he says that cock-up inspired his players to go through the Euro 2016 qualifiers unbeaten.

He added: "I felt it could be an experience which serves us in the future because we never want it to happen again."

"Targeting going unbeaten was a big goal to set - perhaps too big, in some respects - but something in me said we had good players here, and we're not dependent upon just 11."

Stronger

"If we played well, with focus, and continued to try to get better, I was confident we could go through the campaign unbeaten, but qualification was the main thing. I would have been happy with six wins and four draws."

Now, in the usual Hodgson style, he's trying to keep a lid on expectations for the finals.

He points to a couple of friendlies coming up - against Spain and France - as a way of seeing just how good this England team is.

The boss agrees with most pundits who think the Three Lions have yet to come up against anything like a decent team in the qualifiers.

That said, it's an achievement to be the first England side to head for a summer finals with a 100 per cent win record.

Hodgson added: "We will use those games to learn where we are."

"If we concentrate and play properly we can do well. It would have been a surprise if we had not qualified."

"But the friendlies are against better, stronger opposition sides. We'll see how we deal with that."

Wayne was a massive flop as England crashed out at the group stage.

The emergence of Barkley has thrown a spanner in the works for Rooney.

He has echoes of the skipper as a young player and has the skill, pace and fearlessness that was once his trademark.

Warned

Barkley has that touch of genius about him that could make all the difference in a tight Euro 2016 finals match.

And there is plenty of other striking talent around too a few yards further up the field.

Daniel Sturridge, Harry Kane, Theo Walcott, Raheem Sterling and Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain all offer a more mobile threat than Rooney.

There's no doubt that Wayne is still Hodgson's man, although the England boss has still warned him that his place is not guaranteed.

The manager said: "From Wayne there is plenty more to come, no doubt."

"The younger players in the group can really learn from Wayne, a player who has been a regular in the international team since he was a teenager."

"They can learn about professionalism, desire, and pride in playing for England."

"Having the quality is one thing, but you still need to have the fight."

But he added: "He would not expect it, and I would be very upset if anyone asked me to give them a guaranteed place."

"No one else has ever done, and I would take umbrage if that day ever arrived."

Wayne, you have been warned.

BIG SAM'S BACK...WITH A BIG AMBITION!

I'LL BE THREE LIONS BOSS!

ENGLAND
DREAM: Big
Sam has his eye on Hodgson's
hot seat

NEW SUNDERLAND boss Sam Allardyce says he can still be the next ENGLAND manager!

Big Sam thinks he'll do so well at the Stadium Of Light that he'll be the best man for the job when Roy Hodgson retires.

The 60-year-old hasn't taken charge of a single game yet for Sunderland — but he thinks he'll be a big hit on Wearside.

And it will eventually lead him to the promised land in charge of the Three Lions. Allardyce said last night: "If I am doing exceptionally, well when Roy decides he doesn't want to be there, then I have got a chance."

By PAUL THOMAS

Big Sam was close to getting the job in 2006, before losing out to Sven Goran Eriksson.

He said: "I should have got it and, as I'm a better manager now than I was then, I believe I should be in the running whenever it comes round again."

To get another shot at it, he knows he must fire Sunderland up the Premier League table now he's taken over from Dick Advocaat.

They currently sit second from bottom without a win in the first eight games.

He knows it will be a major challenge, saying: "My job is hopefully not to get into that panic and fear zone where there are a few games left and if you don't win, you get relegated."

"I have some time now to try and sort that out as quickly as I can."
